

Young people at the Cangle fear for future

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

YOUNG people living in supported accommodation in Haverhill are facing an uncertain future.

The Cangle Foyer offers supported housing for 32 young people, aged 16-25, who are homeless and vulnerable.

Riverside Housing, which runs the accommodation, has lost the commission to provide care after 17 years and, as such, a move for the 32 residents could happen by April 1.

Young people currently living at the Cangle are worried that they will become homeless, or have to move into unsuitable accommodation.

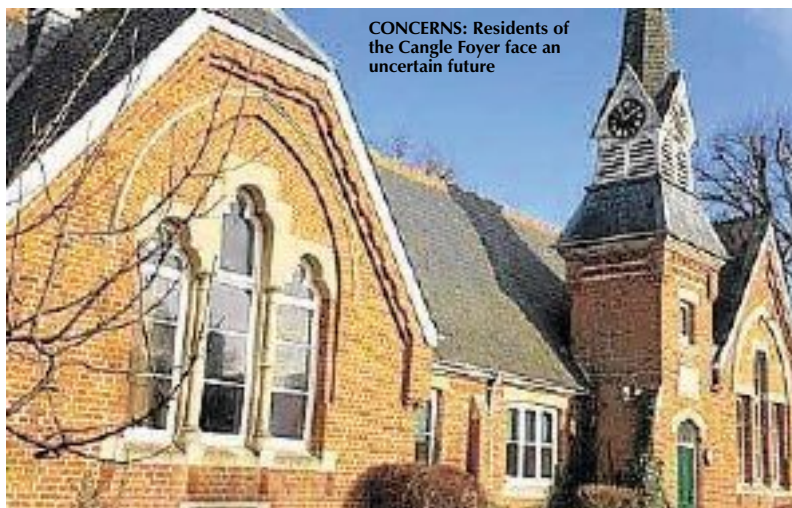

Resident Vikki Hayes said she is suffering from anxiety and panic attacks as a result of the uncertainty.

She said: "This place is a lifeline for a lot of us. Many of us have either found employment, or have progressed further in our jobs, only for it to be taken away from us."

"We have no-one to turn to; nowhere to go."

Residents only heard about the threat to their home on January 5, when staff told them Riverside had lost the contract.

According to residents, it was only on January 25 that they were officially told they would have to move out by April 1, when the new contract starts.

Simon Allcock, Riverside regional operations manager, said: "After 17 years of supporting young people in Haverhill, the housing and support service at Cangle Foyer will be decommissioned from March 31, 2017, following a decision by Suffolk County Council."

"To ensure a smooth transition, Riverside is working closely with the county council to rehouse residents into the new provider's accommodation before this date."

"We are proud to have supported hundreds of young people who have lived at Cangle Foyer over the last 17 years, and have gone on to achieve their goals."

Residents are also concerned they may have to leave Haverhill itself if suitable housing cannot be found in the town.

A county council spokesman said: "Suffolk County Council has carried out a fair and competitive procurement process to award funding to housing related support providers across the county."

"Suffolk County Council and Riverside are committed to ensuring a smooth transition to continue the welfare of the young people we support, and will be working closely to rehouse residents into the new provider's accommodation before April 1."

An announcement is expected this week to confirm who the new provider of care will be and the exact future for residents at the Cangle.

It is not yet known whether or not the current staff will lose their jobs.

A petition was started on Friday in a bid to stop the move.

You can find the petition at <https://www.change.org/p/suffolk-county-council-stop-32-young-people-becoming-homeless-due-to-cuts-in-supported-housing>.

COT CASH: Sarah Kirkby, who

Bereaved mum funds a cot for grieving parents

A BEREAVED mother hopes her gift of a cuddle cot will allow grieving parents "a little extra time to say goodbye" to babies who have passed away.

Sarah Kirkby, from Abington, lost her daughter 25 years ago. Last month, she presented Addenbrooke's with £1,500 for a cuddle cot which she had raised herself.

Cuddle cots are refrigerated cots that can be used to allow recently bereaved parents to keep their child with them a little longer before they have to say goodbye.

Mrs Kirkby, said she had never had the chance to make use of a cuddle cot, but that the therapeutic benefits would be a definite boost for parents struggling at a particularly difficult time.

Mrs Kirkby said: "I decided to raise money for the cuddle cot in memory of my daughter Jennifer who would have been 25 this month. Hopefully, others in that same situation will be helped. It was something I never had the chance to use.

"If people are in that situation, the cuddle cot will help grieving parents. They can spend longer with their baby once it has passed away. They can bathe the baby and other things they would have done. It gives them a little extra time to say goodbye. Other people can see the baby and it gives children the chance to understand what is going on.

"This was the first one the hospital had had and I hope it is good news for them."

Mary King, lead nurse in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit said: "As a neonatal team we strive to provide the best possible care to babies, parents and families throughout their journey but for some families their baby will not survive.

"We rely heavily on fundraising and donations through Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust (ACT) and we are extremely grateful for this very generous donation that will support us with the opportunities to enhance end of life care to families."

Mrs Kirkby raised money for the cuddle cot by selling woodwork and putting on events like a sponsored leg wax.

"There is still a taboo about grief and child death," she added.

COURT

Clergyman found not guilty of defrauding church of £12,700

RACHEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

A CLERGYMAN has been cleared by a jury of defrauding his own church.

Ian Finn, 58, of Hopton Rise, Haverhill, had pleaded not guilty to a charge of fraud by abuse of position between June 2007 and March 2014.

The prosecution alleged that the Rev Finn had failed to properly account for money paid as fees for weddings, funeral and cremation services and the reading of wedding banns over that time.

At the time of the alleged offence, the Rev Finn had been working as parish rector at St Mary The Virgin Church, Haverhill.

It was alleged during his trial at Ipswich Crown Court that he had failed to account for £12,707.

On Monday, after two hours of deliberations, the jury returned a unanimous not guilty verdict.

The court had been told that initial concerns had been raised by the parish treasurer about the Rev Finn's record keeping in January 2014, which led to an investigation by church officials.

The Rev Finn, Rural Dean of Clare and an honorary Dean at St Edmundsbury Cathedral, when questioned by Suffolk police, claimed that the missing church fees were a matter of incompetence on his part rather than dishonesty.

CLEARED: The Rev Ian Finn, pictured centre in suit, with supporters outside Ipswich Crown Court

The Rev Finn told detectives he had made simple accounting mistakes and blamed the situation on "chaotic record keeping and poor and inadequate accounting skills".

Giving evidence, the Rev Finn said that he had been "left to his own devices" to deal with church financial issues after being given no formal training.

He told the jury he had been suspended from his role as parish rector since the fraud allegations were made three years ago.

He denied having ever acted dishonestly and said he would never have taken the chance of seeing his church career destroyed over an alleged fraud involving the equivalent of £1,700 a year over a seven year period.

Since his suspension, he calculated that he was entitled to as much as £11,000 in expenses incurred during that seven years and which he had never claimed from the church authorities.

Following an informal meeting with Arch-deacon David Jenkins, the Rev Finn said he had checked his records and came to the "horrific understanding" that he had made accounting errors.

The Rev Finn said he believed that around £18,000 was involved and he had written a cheque to the Diocesan Board of Finance for that sum.

However, when the figure was officially adjusted to £12,707 he had not been reimbursed the balance, Finn told the court.

Among character witnesses called to speak on the Rev Finn's behalf was Vanessa Whitcombe, head of Castle Manor Academy in Haverhill, who described him as "a man of incredible integrity."

The Rev Graham Owen, who was brought in to assist with parish duties following the Rev Finn's suspension said he had "every confidence" in him, both as a priest and as a person.

Business leaders in the making

A TEAM of enterprising students from Castle Manor Academy have won a business competition.

The Rob Maidment Enterprise challenge pitted teams from Castle Manor and Samuel Ward Academy against each other to make the most profit from an original £50.

The winning team from Castle Manor – Katie Nippress, 14, Joshua Traves, 15, Jessica Taylor, 14, and Hannah Huxley, 14 – boosted their funds by creating a Christmas leaflet, and selling advertising to local businesses, as well as running a festive decoration stall on Haverhill market.

They also organised a disco for Year Five and Six pupils at Place Farm Academy and Burton End Academy.

Hannah said: "I want to start my own business when I leave school and this was a great way to learn about the skills needed."

In total the team made £410.

The six week long competition was organised by One Haverhill Partnership.

Kenyan clinic project completed by charity

VOLUNTEERS from a Haverhill-based charity, Focus on Africa, have completed a three-year project to build a clinic in Kenya.

The new clinic is open to everyone and offers treatment for most injuries and illness, regardless of the ability of the patient to pay.

Chairman Brian Boltwood said: "If they can pay they do and if they can't then they don't. We raise the money here in the UK."

To help complete this labour of love, five of the six trustees donated £2,500 each to finally finish the clinic last month.

Mr Boltwood said: "A lot of people don't appreciate what it's like out there."

"We get people who come out with us to see what we do and a lot can't cope with the way of life. Things like seeing children starving."

The charity bought the land in the village of Kadero Got Nyabondo for the clinic in 2014 and has been working ever since to try and get the building work off the ground.

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

To complete the project, the charity brought together the entire community of the Kenyan village just outside the city of Kisumu.

Mr Boltwood said: "We used local labour which is better for the environment, local workers and a local builder who employed the right amount of people to do the work."

The charity was first started in 2002 by Haverhill resident Peter Plumb.

Sadly, he died before seeing the charity deliver any of its projects. But under the leadership of Peter's son-in-law and current chairman Mr Boltwood, the charity has worked with schools and orphanages to help local children.

While building work at the CARE: Children are some of the clinic's most common patients clinic continued, the volunteers organised equipment and medical supplies to ensure the two Kenyan staff could cope once the volunteers were gone.

Mr Boltwood said: "We organise materials and drugs for the clinic. Things like beds and mosquito nets."

The new clinic is not yet perfect.

BUILDING: The clinic's cesspit under construction

Cyclist's charity ride clocks up £30k

AN ambitious cyclist has raised now more than £30,000 for charity.

Stuart Bayne rode 2,108km (1,309 miles), climbing more than 14,000 metres, during his epic journey from Bluff at the southern tip of New Zealand's South Island to Cape Reinga, the northern-most part of the country.

The 53-year-old was raising money for the Down's Syndrome Association.

He said: "Fortunately all the hard work I put in during my preparation paid dividends. It was hard work, but I knew that if I dug in deep I would be OK as long as my body and my bike could keep going."

Stuart, from Haverhill, had to alter his route after two simultaneous major earthquakes struck north of Christchurch, closing a number of roads he planned to travel on.

Stuart had previously completed a 1,100-kilometre (683-mile) sponsored cycle ride through Europe which raised more than £17,000 for the DSA.

The money will be split between the DSA in the UK and New Zealand.

ST EDMUNDSBURY Borough Council is proposing to raise its council tax precept for the second year in a row.

The planned increase of 1.96 per cent equates to an extra £3.51 a year for people living in Band D properties.

The proposal was approved by St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet at a meeting on Tuesday.

Leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Cllr John Griffiths, said: "It is unlikely that in the life of local government there has ever been a time when so many changes have been made to the way that councils get the funding we need to deliver services.

"St Edmundsbury refuses to look on this as 'doom and gloom' however and instead we are focusing on how we can continue to invest in our local communities."

The borough council had not raised its precept for seven years before 2016.

LEADER: Cllr John Griffiths

CABINET MEMBER: Cllr Ian Houlder

The council pointed to cuts in central government funding as one of the reasons for the increase this year.

The Government's revenue and support grant will provide no money to St Edmundsbury by 2020.

St Edmundsbury's share of the council tax bill would be just over 11 per cent of the whole bill and would now total £182.16 a year for an average band D home.

This follows council tax increases by Haverhill Town Council and the police over the last few weeks.

Cllr Ian Houlder, St Edmundsbury cabinet member for resources, said: "We have to become more self sufficient locally and not rely on central government handouts.

"Many of our communities are beacons of success through the ways in which they look out for each other, work together on the activities which mean so much to them and support the work of councils in their own areas."

Capital investment projects for the next four years currently stand at £64 million and Haverhill Research Park has been listed as one possible investment opportunity.

The final decision on the increase will be made on Tuesday, February 21, at a meeting of St Edmundsbury's full council.

AWARDS

Air cadets presented with awards

MEMBERS of Haverhill Air Cadets were celebrated for their achievements during 2016 at an awards ceremony.

Sixty-seven people attended Haverhill Air Cadets' annual awards evening, with family and friends, as well as ex-members, being invited to celebrate what was a successful 2016.

Many awards were presented, including Cadet of the Year to Cadet Sergeant James Prockter, 16, and Best New Recruit to cadet Alex Turner, 13.

Mr Christopher Oakes, civilian welfare committee treasurer, was awarded the Community Shield for securing additional funding for the squadron.

Flight Lieutenant Henry Bowden, commanding officer, said "We close out 2016 on a huge high of enthusiasm. The squadron has achieved some amazing results throughout the year culminating in this awards evening. 2017 looks to be an even better and even more exciting year than last. I look forward to your hard work and determination in making 2017 our best year yet."

If you are interested in volunteering with or joining the cadets, contact 1451@aircadets.org for more information.

PERFORMANCE: The Linton jazz band will be raising funds for Anthony Nolan Trust

Charity jazz concert

LINTON Jazz will be raising funds for the Anthony Nolan Trust at its annual concert on Saturday, March 4, at 7.30pm.

The 30-piece band, now in its 18th year, performs for fun and for charity.

One band member will be undergoing a bone marrow transplant at the time of the concert, inspiring the fundraising.

Tickets cost £10 (£5 OAPs, children under 16 free) available on 07748 917513 or on the door at Linton Village College.

COUNCIL

Community chest grants help projects

MENTAL health provision has been given a boost through grants from St Edmundsbury Borough Council Community chest funding worth £23,000 was awarded to three projects including two based in Haverhill.

Robert Everitt, St Edmundsbury Borough Council Cabinet member for families and communities, said: "I am delighted that St Edmundsbury is able to invest in our communities through these projects. They are all very worthwhile and I look forward to hearing of the success stories that have been achieved on behalf of our families and communities as a result."

Catch 22, Suffolk Positive Futures in Haverhill was awarded £8,189 to help young people aged 10-19.

The money will be used to fund free weekly sports sessions while working with partners to educate youngsters on the dangers of drink and drugs.

The project hopes that activities will reduce crime and anti-social behaviour as well.

Sports include football, cricket, dodgeball and street golf.

Suffolk Mind has been awarded £4,970 for an ongoing eco-therapy allotment designed to aid mental health and well being.

Suffolk mind identified the need for volunteer-led mental health support in the area and the scheme is already helping to reduce social isolation and increase self esteem.

Part of the money will help pay for a mental health trained facilitator, volunteer expenses and marketing.

PEASGOOD & SKEATES

INDEPENDENT FAMILY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS & MONUMENTAL MASONS

A trusted service from a 170 year old, Local family firm

As a relatively new name in the Haverhill area, we feel it is important to let people know who we are and how the name Peasgood & Skeates came about. We have, in fact, been formed by three very well-known and long established local companies, and 2017 marks the 170th anniversary of our family run firm.

All our funeral homes have been furnished to a high standard and we are proud to have a team of local, experienced and dedicated staff. Here's a little about us:

Peasgood & Skeates was formed as a merger between three well respected independent family funeral directors, H Peasgood & Son of Saffron Walden, R Skeates of Duxford and Cambridge Funeral Services.

H Peasgood & Son was established by James Day in 1847. The business grew from humble beginnings to the highly professional and well respected Company it is today. David Peasgood is the current member of the Peasgood family to work within the business, and is based at our Saffron Walden funeral home.

The pictures below are of Peasgoods' first motor hearse, pictured in Gold Street, Saffron Walden in 1910 and of Reginald and Herbert Peasgood alongside a funeral cortege in Saffron Walden High Street, in March 1930.

R Skeates, a family run business based in Duxford, was founded in 1965 by Ron and Rosemary Skeates. They were soon joined by their son David and his family. David's daughter, Claire Skeates-Day, continues the family tradition, having recently returned to work at our Duxford funeral home.

Our Saffron Walden and Duxford Teams Today:

When Peasgood & Skeates looked to expand their services it was quickly apparent that Cambridge Funeral Services shared the same values, offering customer choice and providing high quality funerals at a reasonable cost. Cambridge Funeral Services, which was established in 1991, by the Reed family (who also own the neighbouring local stonemasonry business of Ivett & Reed), was purchased by Peasgood & Skeates in 2014.

Our Cambridge Team and Nicki Hickford at our Haverhill Office:

Our newest funeral home in Queen Street, Haverhill is looked after by Funeral Administrator Nicki Hickford. Nicki is a Haverhill resident and has a wealth of funeral experience. Coupled with her local knowledge, Nicki is well placed to offer advice on funeral arrangements and pre-paid funeral plans.

Whilst there have been significant changes over the years, our core values remain the same. We are proud to continue the good work of our founders and to maintain the highest standards of care to all.

We understand that visiting a funeral home can be daunting and home visits can therefore be arranged. If, however, you would like to call in to discuss any funeral related matter, or simply wish to take a look around the premises, a warm and friendly welcome is guaranteed.

WHY TAKE OUT A PRE-PAID FUNERAL PLAN?

Pre-paid funeral plans are already established as a caring and responsible way of making arrangements. Services can be tailored to reflect an individual's personality, wishes and life.

With families living further apart, and in some cases moving abroad, it is not unusual for children or relatives to purchase a plan on behalf of an elderly or infirm relative or parent.

Pre-paid funeral plans are not normally regarded as forming part of a person's assets or estate, so therefore, in some circumstances this may enable the plan holder to claim benefits for which they may not otherwise qualify. This could even prove advantageous with situations involving inheritance tax.

The National Society of Allied & Independent Funeral Directors (SAIF), which Peasgood & Skeates are proud members of, recommends Golden Charter pre-paid funeral plans. Golden Charter works solely on behalf of 3,300 independent funeral directors throughout the UK.

When funeral plans are made with local independent funeral directors, they can use their local knowledge to personalise the pre-paid plan for the individual, with a good overview of the community they serve. They will ensure that the most appropriate services and up to date price information is available, maintaining choice and providing a professional service. At Peasgood & Skeates, we are committed to upholding these professional standards and providing both traditional and bespoke services. We are not governed by corporate rules,

- Cover the cost of your funeral director's services at today's prices - a simple, practical way to beat rising funeral prices.
- Protect your family from the worry of funeral costs and put your mind at rest that all is taken care of.
- An opportunity, if you wish, to specify your wishes and preferences.

which enables us to concentrate on delivering a personal service to you and your family.

BUYER BEWARE - DO YOU KNOW WHO WILL DELIVER THE FUNERAL?

There are many ways to purchase a Funeral Plan. However, it is recommended that you take the time to contact your local independent family funeral director for a more personal and knowledgeable service. Some things to bear in mind:

- If you purchase a Funeral Plan over the internet, shop counter or telephone, the seller has no vested interest in ensuring that you receive the best service and value for your money at the time of need.
- Although you may be able to nominate a funeral director of your choice at the time you make the purchase, that funeral director may be offered far less money by the holder of the funds than you have paid them to provide the service. They may therefore be unable to accept the funeral plan, leaving the funeral to be allocated to a funeral director who is not local to you.

Why do Peasgood & Skeates use Golden Charter?

- The money is safely protected in a Trust Fund.
- Over half a million plan holders have already trusted them with their funeral arrangements.
- They are the UK's largest funeral plan provider - in recent years they've sold more plans than any other provider.

£170 Discount on all plans taken out during February and March 2017, to mark our anniversary year.

BURTON CENTRE

Donation to pay for kitchen upgrade

A LONG-STANDING supporter of St Nicholas Hospice has donated money for a new kitchen at the Burton Centre, Haverhill.

The kitchen's facelift comes courtesy of a donation of £1,675 from Robert Baxter of Chassis Cab, a truck supply company in Bury St Edmunds.

Hospice corporate fundraiser Abby Mayes said: "The funds for the refit will mean the Burton Centre's Haven cafe will be able to add to the delicious food they already offer."

As part of the gift the company also donated two i-pads to the hospice's Orchard Day Centre.

Ms Mayes said: "The support the hospice has had from Chassis Cab over many years has been brilliant, everything from putting our livery on to their vans to sponsorship for our Girls Night Out moonlight walk."

Organisations share £20k

MORE THAN £20,000 has been presented to seven organisations and projects by ONE Haverhill.

The money represents the last round of a council-funded scheme.

John Mayhew, chairman of ONE Haverhill, said: "The community grants have been a great success in highlighting and providing crucial support to worthwhile organisations and projects across Haverhill.

"We are indebted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council for providing us with the funds and Haverhill Town Council for helping us administer the grants."

Beneficiaries from this round of funding include REACH community projects, 1st Haverhill Scout Group, the town's Befriending Scheme, Haverwell Community Wellbeing Fund, Haverhill Cricket club, Community Action Suffolk and St Mary's Church.

Over the past few years the ONE

Haverhill Partnership has given out more than £60,000 in grants to existing and new projects.

The Befriending Scheme received £5,000 in this round of funding. Services manager Sally McInerney said: "Our members see the hub group as a lifeline. The Befriending Scheme is incredibly grateful for this award."

DEVELOPMENT

New homes win council backing

THE first phase of housing at the North West development at Haverhill has been approved by the town council.

A total of 203 homes would be built in phase one under plans presented to a planning meeting on Tuesday.

The development at Anne Sucklings Lane, Little Wratting, is subject to conditions, including the construction of a relief road.

Under outline planning permission, originally granted for the development, the relief road does not need to be finished for five years or until the 500th house is built and occupied.

Speaking at Tuesday's meeting, residents and councillors raised concerns about increased traffic.

Julie Goodwin, whose property backs onto the development, said: "Getting out of Anne Suckling Road most times is a nightmare, I'm concerned the relief road is not going to be built for five years. Construction traffic will make traffic worse for each phase."

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

Cllr David Roach added: "The relief road is a huge thing for this town. The amount of good PR you would get for delivering that road early, you can't buy that."

Eventually the entire north west development will have 1,150 homes, a primary school, leisure facilities and developers Persimmon will need to make contributions to health care provision as well.

Each phase of the development will also consist of 30 per cent affordable housing to help cope with the growing housing needs of the town.

Councillors also raised concerns about how many bedrooms were actually in each home and how that would affect parking. Persimmon's plans show two bedroom homes with an office, meaning only one parking space is needed as opposed to two parking spaces if they were a three bed.

Town clerk Colin Poole said: "The smallest bedroom we found, the smallest office is larger than that."

Going forward the planning committee voted in favour of the application but attached suggestions to the plan that will be decided by St Edmundsbury Borough Council at a later date.

Conditions included building the relief road first, consideration by planners of how many bedrooms each house has and therefore parking spaces needed, limiting construction traffic delivery times and looking at surface drainage on site.

Pair make music video for rapper

A HAVERHILL student has made a music video for a rapper.

Bradley Welling and his course mate Tom Swain, from Sudbury, completed the project as part of work experience for their college course.

Rapper Felix Dangmaa Lambert was visiting West Suffolk College as part of his own university course when he saw a music video the students had been working on.

He was so impressed he asked if the students could do one for him.

Felix said he was delighted with the result.

DEVELOPMENT

Flats plan raises concerns over access for ambulances

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

CONCERNS that ambulances would be delayed attending emergency calls have led to plans for a new housing development to be rejected in principle.

Developers want to demolish the social services and magistrates' court buildings on Camps Road, Haverhill, and replace them with 17 homes.

Plans for the site, opposite a former care home – plans for which have also been rejected – are subject to an appeal, but St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee was asked to make a judgement on what it would have decided.

Speaking at last Thursday's meeting, a spokesman said East of England Ambulance Trust was worried about how construction and subsequent housing would affect its ability to respond to emergency calls in the Haverhill area within the allotted eight minute window.

He said: "Clearly proximity is an issue. We respond to between 17-20 calls per day in Haverhill. We are concerned it will likely raise delays in response and cause parking issues and congestion."

Many councillors had concerns that any development on the social services and adjoining magistrates' court site would be difficult because of access issues for the ambulance service.

Cllr's Peter Stevens and Terry Clements both said that the site of the ambulance service should be reconsidered to make planning permission for the two sites easier in the future.

COMMUNITY

Mayor to host charity ball to celebrate town council

THE Mayor and Mayoress of Haverhill, David and Susan Roach, are holding a dinner dance on Saturday, April 1, to celebrate the anniversary of the formation of Haverhill Town Council, as well as David's 60th birthday.

The black tie event, to be held at Haverhill Arts Centre, will include a three-course meal followed by dancing to The Rinaldi Express Band.

There will also be a raffle to raise money for the mayor's charities – Haverwell Community Wellbeing Fund and the Haverhill Synergy Café.

Haverhill Town Council was formed in 1989.

The town council manages Haverhill Arts Centre and organises such events as the fireworks display and Christmas lights, the Halloween trail and the Big Bash.

Cllr Roach said: "I'm really looking forward to the night, aside from the fact that I am yet another year older! It would be marvellous to see as many people there as possible."

Tickets cost £35 and can be bought through the arts centre box office at <https://www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk>

A family business through

ADVERTISING FEATURE

and through for more than 50 years, Westrope Motors was taken over by Dave and Julia Dollin nine years ago and one day they too hope to pass it on to their children.

Dave said: "We're the only one in the village so we try and do a bit of everything so we can cater for everyone."

Formerly, the store also provided MOT and repair services for cars, but now their focus is on assisting the village with all of their other convenience needs.

They also incorporate a fuel service and filling station into the business.

Call Westrope Motors on (01440) 730444 or visit them on North Street, Steeple Bumpstead, Haverhill, Suffolk, CB9 7DP.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE: Rapunzel and the Tower of Doom at Haverhill Arts Centre on Wednesday, February 15

HALF-TERM is upon us already and there is plenty to choose from at the arts centre.

There are a few tickets left for Black Magic – The Little Mix Show on Tuesday, February 14, but not many, so act soon.

The girls will pay tribute to their idols with all the favourite song and dance routines, there'll also be competitions, give-aways and a meet and greet with the girls after the show. A pop-tastic blast in other words.

If your children aren't quite at the rabid idolatry stage then they might enjoy Rapunzel and the Tower of Doom, a hair-raising puppet-style riff on a tangled old tale. Theatre of Widdershins perform this lovely piece of children's theatre on Wednesday, February 15, at 11am.

Half-term cinema includes more legend building from the galaxy, far, far away as the Jedi Knights embark on more skirmishes with The Empire in Rogue One: A Star Wars Story (12A). It is screening on Wednesday, February 15, at 7pm and Thursday, February 16, at 2.30pm.

Moana (PG) is the CGI story of a spirited teenager who sets sail on a daring mission to prove herself a master wayfinder. During her journey, Moana meets the once-mighty demi-god Maui, and together, they traverse the ocean on an action-packed voyage, encountering enormous fiery creatures and impossible odds. See Moana in action on Thursday, February 16, at 10.30am and Friday, February 17, at 10.30am.

Other events include the return of the table top sale, (like a car-boot but without the frost-bite). Go along for 10am for the best bargains on Saturday, February 11. Later on Saturday the arts centre has another welcome return from Uncle Funk and the Boogie Wonderband. No prizes for guessing the music genre here; yes, mainlined from the 70s, it will be a groovy night of funk and disco hits. Party time is 8pm.

Gemma Arterton plays the hallowed Joan of Arc in a new version of George Bernard Shaw's play Saint Joan, broadcast live from the National Theatre on Thursday, February 16. The young country girl declares a bloody mission to drive the English from France and in so doing, threatens the fabric of French feudal society. East-West Dialogues – The Start

Masters Trio sees three guitar maestros perform together to fuse the folk-classical-contemporary traditions of the West with Celtic inspired guitar lines and table playing from Northern India. The evening also includes a special guest appearance by Luca Francioso, the celebrated Italian guitarist, composer and writer. Get yourself along for an 8pm start on Friday, February 17.

In the near future, look out for Newsies: The Broadway Musical (February 19), The Everly Brothers and Friends Tribute Show (February 24), The All That Jazz Club (February 28) and Barry Cryer and Colin Sell: Strictly Come Dancing (Friday, March 3)

FILM REVIEWS

With Damon Smith

Ruth Negga as Mildred Loving and Joel Edgerton as Richard Loving

Bride and prejudice

THE human heart refuses to be constrained by rationality or reason.

We are all slaves to those 10 ounces of throbbing muscle, savouring every flutter of pleasure in the knowledge that, inevitably, there will be murmurs of pain as we mourn those closest to us.

Loving is a handsomely crafted drama about two mild-mannered, yet courageous souls from opposite sides of the racial divide in late 1950s Virginia, who followed their hearts in strict defiance of The Racial Integrity Act, which criminalized interracial marriages in the state.

The unerring devotion of Richard Loving to his wife Mildred, in the face of fierce opposition from some friends and neighbours, led to a landmark 1967 legal ruling by the US Supreme Court that finally overturned decades of prejudice.

This remarkable courtroom battle against bigotry and bureaucracy provides writer-director Jeff Nichols with a deep emotional core that compels us to root for Richard and Mildred when all hope is lost.

LOVING (12A)

Nichols' script draws inspiration from Nancy Buirski's celebrated 2011 documentary The Loving Story and invents some peripheral characters for the sake of dramatic expediency, without weakening the emotional wallop of the film's understated final act.

Construction worker Richard Loving (Joel Edgerton) falls giddily in love with family friend Mildred Jeter (Ruth Negga).

When she falls pregnant, the couple decide to marry.

Forbidden from consummating their relationship in Virginia, Richard and Mildred drive to Washington D.C. and return home with a marriage licence, which they proudly display on the wall of their home.

Sheriff Brooks (Marton Csokas) arrives soon after with his deputies and arrests the Lovings.

They are eventually released, but the couple must publicly keep their distance. "All we got to do is keep to ourselves for a while and this'll blow over," Richard tenderly assures Mildred.

Alas, his optimism is misplaced and the couple narrowly avoids a one-year stint behind bars by agreeing that they will not return to Virginia together for 25 years.

The case eventually attracts the interest of American Civil Liberties Union lawyer Bernie Cohen (Nick Kroll) and trailblazing civil rights lawyer Phil Hirschkop (Jon Bass).

Meanwhile, freelance photographer Grey Villet (Michael Shannon) is commissioned to capture an intimate portrait of the Lovings' home life for TIME magazine.

Loving sensitively recreates a battle for justice waged by two quietly spoken people, who changed the course of history.

Edgerton is mesmerising as the stoic husband, and Oscar nominee Negga is similarly radiant as the emotional rock in the eye of a legal storm.

Director Nichols beautifully evokes the era, allowing his camera to focus on the couple's tribulations against a backdrop of meticulous period detail.

faltering family business.

Kenny and his associates sweat blood and tears from their office, the local bar, where Kenny's girlfriend Kay (Bryce Dallas Howard) serves drinks while her beau vows to "make the dollar holler".

One alcohol-fuelled night, Kenny has a vivid dream and, on a whim, he pawns Kay's watch to fly east, where he hopes to persuade geologist Michael Acosta (Edgar Ramirez) to join him on a madcap quest.

Kenny invests every last cent to drill core samples and send them for analysis in the hope that gold lurks underground. Miraculously, one sample shows traces of the precious metal and it seems Kenny has stumbled upon a reserve worth millions.

Matthew McConaughey as Kenny Wells

Investment banker Brian Woolf (Corey Stoll) woos Kenny in order to secure a slice of the golden pie, while cutthroat rival prospector Mark Hancock (Bruce Greenwood) jealously observes the negotiations.

Gold wisely invests in a charismatic leading man, capable of polishing an uneven plot to a dull glister. Ramirez and Howard are poorly served in their roles and the two-hour running time feels considerably longer.

GOLD (15)

EXCHANGE rates rise and fall, share prices plummet and rally, but a precious metal like gold never seems to lose its seductive lustre.

Stephen Gaghan's drama of corporate greed and misinformation is mined from a true story that sent shockwaves through the US stock market.

In 1988, prospector Kenny Wells (Matthew McConaughey) presides over the

ALSO SHOWING

RESIDENT EVIL: THE FINAL CHAPTER (15)

ALICE (Milla Jovovich) has been left for dead in the smouldering ruins of Washington DC by sun-glasses-clad assassin Albert Wesker (Shawn Roberts), one of the shadowy figures behind the Umbrella Corporation, which released the T-Virus and transformed humanity into snarling predators.

The plucky heroine fends off creatures above and below the ground until Umbrella's computer operating system, The Red Queen (Ever Anderson, Jovovich's real life daughter), unexpectedly makes contact and urges Alice to return to the epicentre of the outbreak, The Hive.

The Red Queen claims some of the 4,472 uninfected humans on the planet can be saved if an airborne antiviral is released within 48 hours.

Alice is understandably suspicious of the operating system's motives. Nevertheless, she screeches and scythes her way back to Raccoon City. En route, the gun-toting angel of death clashes with conniving Dr Isaacs (Iain Glen) and seeks refuge with a ragtag group of survivors.

Alas, a zombie horde is heading straight for Alice and her outnumbered compatriots in their fortified tower, so they must gather weapons, muster courage and brace for one last stand.

Resident Evil: The Final Chapter is indistinguishable from previous instalments, and edited with the same dizzying fury.

Milla Jovovich as Alice/Alicia Marcus

T2 TRAINSPOTTING (18)

CHOOSE a flabby-bellied two hours rather than a lean 93 minutes of the original to follow Mark Renton (Ewan McGregor) as he returns home to beg forgiveness from Spud (Ewen Bremner).

Choose revenge, the poison coursing through the veins of reluctant publican Sick Boy (Jonny Lee Miller) when he discovers Renton is back in town.

Choose seething rage, which drips from the tongue of psychotic jailbird Begbie (Robert Carlyle) as he finally glimpses life without bars.

Choose a detour to the familiar breathtaking vista of Corroir rail station, framed by the rounded hill of Beinn na Lap, to pay tribute to those left behind.

Choose flashes of brilliance – a darkly humorous explosion of bodily fluids, a funding pitch that describes a sauna as "an artisanal bed and breakfast experience" – punctuated by cute visual nods to the first film.

Choose Spud as the trembling, emotional core, willing him to succeed as he struggles to sever ties to heroin and discover self-worth.

Choose the sinking realisation that the giddy high of the first time you watched Trainspotting – that breathless sprint down Princes Street, and the headfirst plunge into the worst toilet in Scotland – isn't going to be replicated.

Robert Carlyle as Begbie

BOOKSHELF

Almost two years since Bake Off changed her life, Nadiya Hussain has her fingers in more new pies - including a debut novel. She tells to HANNAH STEPHENSON all about it

STAR BAKER Nadiya Hussain has an unusual method of managing panic attacks. "When I was on Bake Off, I used to have an elastic band around my wrist and used it for shock therapy, where you ping the elastic band which reminds you of where you are and that you'll be fine," she says.

"I wore it up to about week six, when it pinged off! I remember asking one of the researchers to find me an elastic band, and after that I used to carry spares."

Nadiya had a panic disorder long before appearing on BBC1's The Great British Bake Off, she admits.

"I could just have palpitations and feel sick and that could be it, or I could feel like I can't breathe any more and someone's watching me."

"That still happens, even to this day. It isn't any less of a problem than it was. It will always be there."

"To me, it's like having a monster that hangs around with you and is always behind you."

Since winning Bake Off in 2015, the 32-year-old mother-of-three has presented an acclaimed two-part documentary about Bangladesh, her parents' homeland (last year's The Chronicles Of Nadiya), written cookbooks, been a guest panellist on Loose Women and has just brought out her debut novel, The Secret Lives Of The Amir Sisters, the first of three.

She doesn't have the elastic band around her wrist any more, but says she still wears it now and then.

"When I did the Queen's 90th birthday cake, it was ping, ping, ping!" she recalls, smiling. "But my kids really helped me. Now, when I'm afraid, I think, 'What would you tell the kids right now?'"

"When something scares me, there's nothing nicer than conquering that fear and knowing it will never scare you again. I welcome fear now."

Nadiya, recently described as one of the most influential people in Britain, has moved from Leeds to Milton Keynes with her family since appearing in the popular series, and is now living the dream.

She still watches Bake Off, and can't understand why the fuss about its move to Channel 4.

"It's the most British show you're ever going to get on television and people have taken to it in such a way, they can't cope with the change of it moving to Channel 4."

"There are going to be adverts and they're worried about the format changing but do you know what; what's wrong with change? I'll still watch it."

She distances herself from the controversy over presenters Mel Giedroyc and Sue Perkins and judge Mary Berry quitting, and the fact fellow judge Paul Hollywood has not.

"It's his choice. He felt that for his family and for his life, the right thing to do was to move with Bake

What's wrong with change? I'll still watch Bake Off

Off. What's wrong with that? Good for him."

She says Channel 4 hasn't approached her to be a presenter or judge in the next series and she's too busy to take on that sort of commitment at the moment.

"I'm really enjoying all the things I'm doing and I have a really busy year planned, so I wouldn't have time for them."

Right now, Nadiya is focusing on writing. Her first ghostwritten novel, The Secret Lives Of The Amir Sisters, is a contemporary story about four Muslim sisters of Bangladeshi parents, growing up in a quaint English village.

Each has her own problems.

Fatima is overweight and trying to pass her driving test; Bubblee is a feisty, rebellious artist who wants to get away from family tradition; Farah is a put-upon housewife and Mae is coping with burgeoning YouTube stardom.

The problems they face are ones many families will relate to, regardless of religion, although there's an emphasis on finding husbands for the unmarried sisters.

"The girls are first-generation British, which is something I can relate to, and I'm one of four sisters.

"My parents are immigrants. This was an opportunity to write a story about the things that I grew up with, or the things that are quite common in a community I've grown up in."

Nadiya grew up in Luton in a Bangladeshi community where her father ran a chain of curry houses. He isn't your typical Bangladeshi dad, she observes.

"He's very open-minded. His attitude is, you guys do what you want to do. I was the one who didn't fancy finding a husband, so I asked my dad to do that for me. I thought an arranged marriage would be fun."

At 20, she married IT consultant Abdul - the son of a good friend of her father's - in a huge Islamic ceremony. But she says had she not wanted an arranged marriage, her parents wouldn't have minded.

"I'm very lucky - I know arranged marriage doesn't always work. "I found it strange at first. I'd just turned 20. I think I was a sensible 20-year-old. I learned in the first two or three years of marriage that I'm very persistent. I'm a fighter and like to make things work."

Now she's looking to tie the knot again, in a different way.

"I didn't know my husband very well 12 years ago. I'd like to do it because I like him, I love him, and I'd like to do it in a way I would have done it had I not had an arranged marriage."

"I'd just have a few people. There were 2,000 people at my last wedding and I didn't know any of them, apart from my mum and dad and my in-laws and my husband."

"I'd want somewhere quiet, where you can just sit down and eat your meal - and I wouldn't bake my own cakes!"

She's writing two more cookbooks, has begun work on the next novel, and has more TV projects on the cards. But, of course, she still finds time to bake.

"Right now, there's a frangipane tart, a Christmas cake, ginger biscuits, a ginger cake and vegetable rolls on my work top."

"I don't know what I'm going to do with any of it," says Nadiya.

"If my husband's around during the day, he'll pack it up, knock on neighbours' doors and say, 'Would you like some cake?' and even they say, 'No, we're all on a diet - leave us alone!'"

LATEST TITLES

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO INTERRACIAL LOVE? by Kathleen Collins (Granta, hardback £12.99, ebook £8.54)

KATHLEEN COLLINS, activist, playwright and film-maker, was a pioneering black woman deeply involved in the American Civil Rights Movement, yet whose work seemed destined to fade into obscurity following her death, aged just 46, in 1988.

Fortunately, in 2015 her film, Losing Ground, was rediscovered, and hailed as a masterpiece.

In its wake comes this haunting collection of short stories, revealing Collins to have been an equally gifted and insightful writer.

Stand-outs Interiors, The Happy Family and the title piece are devastating tales of family strife, disappointing lovers and thwarted idealism, all from a candid female perspective that's refreshing, even to a contemporary reader.

Central are the difficult interracial politics of the era. These stories have resurfaced at a time when the attitudes of the West seem once again at risk of taking a crueler turn, and this lends them further heartbreaking resonance.

THE END OF EDDY by Edouard Louis (Harvill Secker, hardback £12.99, ebook £9.99)

EDOUARD LOUIS' semi-autobiographical account tells of his childhood and adolescence in a village in rural France, where residents live below the poverty line. Men are expected to act tough, to fight and drink, and to find work in the local factory, but Eddy finds himself unable to live up to the macho values that the community and, in particular, his father expect of him.

Increasingly humiliated by the possibility that he might be gay, he tries to act the "tough guy", dating girls and hiding his shame, but he is forever hounded by the abuse of both his family and his peers.

Writing from distance, having since left the village behind, Louis has produced a critical study of the conservatism of small communities, and an exploration of how we reconcile our individual nature with what is expected of us.

KODIAQ: Scout is due at Geneva

Skoda goes scouting with 7-seat Kodiaq

THE Geneva Motor Show in March will see the first appearance of a new variant of the recently launched Skoda Kodiaq SUV.

Named the Kodiaq Scout, the big seven-seat Czech-built SUV comes with all-wheel-drive as standard, sits on 19-inch alloys and has special underbody protection for off-road driving.

It will be offered with a choice of two petrol and two diesel engines – 150bhp and 180bhp petrol, and 150bhp and 180bhp diesel.

The Scout is also fitted as standard with 19-inch alloy wheels specially created for this model plus it bears a small badge with the model designation on the front wing and the glove compartment.

Equipment level is high and based on Kodiaq SE trim level. It's likely the Scout will sit at the top of the Kodiaq range which is priced from £21,495 to £34,895.

Welcome back Alvis!

FIFTY years after Alvis stopped making cars, the company is back and its order book is open. And the company will have a significant presence at the London Classic Car Show (February 23-26, London ExCeL) to mark the occasion.

Unlike some marque revivals, The Alvis Car Company isn't simply attaching the famous 'Red Triangle' badge to the front of a modern supercar but instead is recreating genuine supercars from an earlier age.

Among the Alvis cars at the capital's premier classic car show will be a stunning 1966 Graber-bodied TF21, made in the company's penultimate year, and a wonderful 4.3 drophead coupé with Lancefield coachwork from 1937. The cars are originals but Alvis is offering hand-built facsimiles of both as part of a limited run of Continuation Models.

The Graber and Lancefield cars can be seen and heard in action as they will be taking part in one of the show's major displays, The Perfect Ten. Sixty of the world's greatest classic cars in ten categories – saloon, coupé, convertible, sports car, supercar, hatchback, shooting break, sports racer, streamliner and single-seater – will be paraded along The Grand Avenue, an automotive catwalk that runs through the centre of the show.

Tickets details at thelondonclassiccarshow.co.uk.

The 'Golf class' welcomes the revised new range

THE updated Volkswagen Golf is now open for order in the UK with the option of all-new engines, more technology, improved connectivity and revised styling for an average of £650 less than the outgoing car.

Retaining the former starting price of £17,625 for the entry-level updated Golf S 1.0 TSI 85 PS three-door, the new Golf is driving even more value, style and desirability into what is aptly named by many the 'Golf class'.

Emerging from Volkswagen factories around the globe at an average pace of one every 40 seconds for the last 43 years, the brand's family favourite arrives in UK showrooms towards the end of March but order books are already opening for the eagerly awaited updated version of the most popular European car to date.

With global sales now well in excess of 33 million since its launch more than four decades ago (1974), more than two million of which are to UK buyers, the updated version of the seventh generation Golf is once again redefining its market segment by bringing 'big car' technology to the compact family car class.

The progressive digitisation of Golf is supported by the debut of highly efficient engines. Even the new base petrol engine – the turbocharged direct-injection 1.0 TSI with 85PS – impresses with fuel consumption of 58.9mpg (combined).

The Power to Surprise

ON SHOW: Ferraris at Silverstone

Silverstone Classic is up to 10,000 already!

THERE may be six months remaining on the countdown to this summer's eagerly-anticipated Silverstone Classic (July 29-31), but already more than 100 car clubs have registered to be part of the spectacular infield displays – one of the major attractions at the world's biggest classic motor racing festival.

What's more, underlining the massive three-day event's ever-increasing popularity, this year's century has been topped in record time – three weeks earlier than in 2016, which itself was a record!

In recent years, around 10,000 privately-owned classics have been on show right at the heart of the extravaganza, providing visitors with a huge showcase of much-loved motoring history.

Adult admission starts from £35 and the cost of the three-day weekend ticket has been frozen at £99.

More at silverstoneclassic.com.

NUMERO UNO: Nissan's e-NV200

Nissan e-van tops sales chart for 2016

THE Nissan e-NV200 topped the charts to become Europe's best-selling electric van in 2016. The award-winning all-electric van ranked number one in 17 countries across Europe, ahead of its competitors in the category.

The UK is the top market in Europe for Nissan e-NV200, followed closely by Norway and France. Sales were up 20 per cent on the previous year and alongside the LEAF, Nissan's electric vehicle models command almost 50 per cent of the entire UK EV market. In the UK, sales of e-NV200 have more than doubled since launching in 2014 with the model claiming just over 82 per cent market share in 2016.

TreZor voted most beautiful concept car

THE 32nd Festival Automobile International at the Hôtel des Invalides in Paris, France, has singled out the Renault TreZor as the Most Beautiful Concept Car of 2016.

"I would like to thank the jury for this award which inspires us to continue to pursue our design strategy," says Laurens van den Aker, SVP Corporate Design, Renault. "The TreZor's powerful, sensuous lines pave the way for the styling and technologies that will be features of our upcoming models. It also marks the beginning of a new cycle of Renault concept cars."

"The jury decided this award should go to the TreZor because of the extreme beauty, sensuality and elegance it exudes," observes Rémi Depoix, President of the Festival Automobile International. "It is the epitome of a concept car and we were notably won over by the cohesion of its overall design and the attention that has been paid to the details. It is a fine creative work which, we hope, will inspire Renault's future roadgoing models."

The lines of the Renault TreZor are warm, sensuous and refined, while its assertive front end incorporates signature C-shaped lights. In terms of their styling, Renault's upcoming models will draw their inspiration from the TreZor's DNA as their forms become even more fluid and mature.

The TreZor's interior design, meanwhile, places the emphasis on driving enjoyment and features a large enveloping touchscreen display that reinforces the cockpit feel. This customisable, connected interface juxtaposes warming, prestige materials like wood and leather. The interiors of upcoming Renault models will take their inspiration from these increasingly refined styling trends and connected technologies.

For the duration of this year's Festival International de l'Automobile, the Renault TreZor will be on display at the Hôtel des Invalides alongside other concept cars selected by the jury. This display is open to the public until Sunday. More information at festivalautomobile.com.

SO BEAUTIFUL: The Renault TreZor

20th crash test anniversary

TWO family cars have been crash tested to mark the 20th anniversary of a European safety scheme.

A 1997 Rover 100 and a 2017 Honda Jazz were put through a head-on collision at 40mph to demonstrate the advances in safety since the Euro New Car Assessment Programme (NCAP) was launched in February 1997.

Former Formula One boss Max Mosley, the first chairman of Euro-NCAP, said "thousands of fatalities" have been prevented as a result of its introduction.

The Rover had no airbags to protect crash test dummies in its passenger seats during the test, which destroyed the front of the vehicle.

The model was given a one-star rating when it was first tested 20 years ago, and was withdrawn from sale just months later.

There was much less damage to the modern Honda, which had airbags deployed throughout the interior of the car. It was rated five stars for safety.

THATCHAM RESEARCH, WHICH HOSTS SAVING LIVES: The 1997 Rover 100, left and the 2017 Honda Jazz after testing the UK's only Euro-NCAP testing facility in Thatcham, Berkshire, said safety improvements fuelled by rigorous testing have delivered a 63 per cent reduction in the number of car occupants killed or seriously injured each year, from 23,000 in 1997 to 8,500 in 2015.

Over the same period the number of pedestrians and cyclists killed or seriously injured annually has fallen by 41 per cent, from 14,500 to 8,500. Manufacturers initially opposed Euro-NCAP, claiming it was too strict and that no car could ever achieve a four-star rating.

Today nine out of 10 cars sold in Europe hold a Euro-NCAP rating.

Mr Mosley said: "Twenty years on from what started as a controversial programme, rejected by manufacturers and supposedly aiming for unrealistic safety standards, Euro-NCAP is now firmly part of the automotive mainstream.

"Thousands of fatalities have been prevented, consumer demand for safety is high, manufacturers compete on safety rating results and vehicle safety standards continue to improve."

AA president Edmund King recalled his horror at witnessing a Rover 100 being tested 20 years ago.

He told the Press Association: "These tests were dramatic. The Rover 100 was described as having improved safety features – it had side impact bars and an optional driver airbag – but my first sight of the car after the frontal crash test made me shake and feel sick."

"Even today looking at the pictures of the half-squashed Rover makes me feel uneasy."

Mr King said the introduction of Euro-NCAP has led to safety improvements as significant as those brought about by seatbelts and breathalysers.

Fourth-generation Kia Rio now on sale from £11,995

THE new, fourth-generation Kia Rio is now on sale with an asking price of £11,995.

Available solely as a five-door, the Fiesta-rivalling supermini is arriving in the UK with three trim levels and one limited-edition variant.

The basic price buys the '1'-grade car, which comes with air conditioning, electric windows, Bluetooth and steering wheel-mounted audio controls.

Customers will get a large choice of engines, with a new turbocharged 1.0-litre unit joining the existing 1.25-litre petrol and 1.4-litre petrol and diesel units.

The newcomer is available with 99 or 118bhp, depending on variant, and manages up to 62.8mpg on the combined cycle.

The diesel, however, remains the most economical choice, returning as much as 80.7mpg and CO2 emissions from 92g/km.

Receptionist

Institute of Continuing Education, Madingley Hall • £18,940-£21,843
Ref: EA11244

We are seeking to appoint a positive and friendly full-time Receptionist to join a busy, award-winning team. You will provide excellent levels of customer care and attention across all areas of the department.

The successful applicants will have good communication skills and the ability to work effectively as part of a team and independently while in a pressurised environment.

Madingley Hall is a beautiful venue set in expansive grounds, and just a few miles from Cambridge city centre. There are currently around 150 staff working at the Institute, comprising a mix of academic, administrative, and hospitality-based roles.

In return we offer free parking, generous annual leave entitlements, training and development opportunities, an extensive employee benefits scheme and a contributory pension scheme.

It is essential that you complete the 'Suitability for the Role' section of the application form. This is your opportunity to show us that you understand what we are looking for.

If you upload any additional documents which have not been requested, we will not be able to consider these as part of your application. Please include details of referees who you are willing for us to contact before an interview if invited.

If you have any questions about this vacancy or the application process, please contact Hope Terhune at ICHERAdministration@admin.cam.ac.uk.

Boro are Gr-eight in victory over Dereham

Football

HAVERHILL Borough hit the goal trail in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division with a resounding 8-1 win at home to Dereham Town reserves.

It took less than five minutes for Borough to take the lead as Casey Phillips powered home a header from Ryan Swallow's free kick.

Skipper Jarid Robson, James Regan and Charlie Holmes all wasted further chances before three goals in seven minutes just before the interval settled the match as a contest.

An own goal after good work by Craig Pruden and Matt Staines, was swiftly followed by a goal from Holmes who tapped home from close range after Robson's free kick was flicked across the face of the goal.

And Staines made it 4-0 at half time moments later after latching on to a perfectly weighted ball from Swallow.

Substitute Ashley Botten made it 5-0 on the hour, sweeping home at the far post after good work by Holmes, before Dereham finally got on the score sheet with a header at the far post.

Staines had a shot cleared off the line as Boro threatened again, but it was not long before Robson made it 6-1 after converting from Botten's cross.

Another own goal stretched Boro's lead further, before Holmes rounded off the scoring with his second goal of the game after good play down the left wing by Staines.

Haverhill Rovers reserves cruised to a 13-1 win at home to Cambridge Ambassadors in the Mead Plant & Grab League, Division 4A.

Kyle Clarke scored eight goals, including the opening goal in the eighth minute.

Owen Longley doubled the lead in the 17th minute before the visitors were left with 10 men when one of their players pulled up with a hamstring injury, with no substitutes left to replace him.

Clarke scored again on 25 minutes, with Longley and Mitchell Burr also netting to make it 5-0.

Clarke then completed his hat-trick in first half injury time to put Rovers 6-0 up at the break.

Two more goals from Clarke early in the second half saw Rovers go 8-0 up, before Burr netted his second in the 57th minute.

Reiss Obeng took the score into double figures and a further three goals from Clarke made it 13-0.

Cambridge rallied in the closing stages and scored a late consolation in the 87th minute.

Athletics

Lee sets a PB in Watford

HAVERHILL Running Club's Lee Brown marked his first appearance of the year with a personal best at the Watford half-marathon.

Brown (pictured above) completed the hill road course in 1hr 32min 33sec.

Elsewhere, Yusuf Firat competed in the Great Bentley half-marathon in Essex, while Shirley Fowler, Joanne Rosenwold and Dave Edwards took part in the off-road Braintree Bogle marathon.

Youth football

Town down the Eagles

HAVERHILL Town under-15s enjoyed a 3-1 win at home to Cambourne Eagles despite playing the game with 10 players due to a lack of availability.

Despite being a man short, Town kept the ball well in the first half and they took the lead when midfielder Jack Lisher produced a delightful lob over the Cambourne keeper to open the scoring.

It remained 1-0 at half time but Town made a strong start to the second half and they soon extended their lead with another goal from Lisher.

Tyler Griffin then made it 3-0 with a superb long-range effort, and although the visitors pulled a goal back, it was too little, too late.
